The bachelor's degree in Community Health prepares students for career paths in a variety of community health settings. The program is rigorous and dynamic and allows students who are passionate about health issues to work with individuals to develop healthy attitudes and behaviors. The program develops critical thinking and leadership skills in students.

Benefits of the program include:
- Program Reputation - KU's Bachelor's degree in Community Health is offered through the KU School of Education and Human Sciences, which was recently ranked 8th in the nation according to U.S. News & World Report's Best Public Education Schools.
- Dual Programming - Coursework fulfills the requirements for a Bachelor's degree as well as the Certified Health Education Specialist (CHES) credential. It's a two-for-one program at KU!
- Customizable Curriculum - Students have the flexibility to develop expertise in health-related areas through a variety of minor options.
- Hands-on Experience - Senior internship in community health provides real-world experience and future employer contacts.
- Student Organizations & Networking - Students can actively participate in KU's Community Health Outreach Program (CHOP), a unique, student-led organization designed to help students actively engage in various health & wellness focused events.

This transfer guide provides important information and a sample two-semester plan for a student starting at Cloud County Community College and transferring to KU for the remaining coursework. In addition, we provide additional courses a student may choose to take at the community college prior to transferring to KU. Each student's background and goals are unique. Thus we recommend ongoing communication with an advisor in the KU School of Education and Human Sciences. See contact information at the bottom of this page.

Additional Notes for Transfer Students

While additional courses have been included on this transfer guide it should be noted that due to prerequisites and course offerings if a student spends two years at a community college, the student will still have three years of courses to complete once at KU. This could cause the student to be below full-time enrollment while at KU.

[1]Students may complete First Aid/CPR Certification through an entity which is OSHA compliant, such as the American Red Cross.
[2]Students may complete the equivalent to BIOL 150, this is especially important for those planning to apply to professional medical programs, such as Physician Assistant and Medical School..

- Transfer credits with earned grades of D+ and below will not satisfy graduation requirements, but will still be included in the transfer GPA. If a student takes a course and then repeats it at the same institution, KU will honor the course repeat policy in effect at the institution issuing the transcript. All grades for academically forgiven courses will be included in the transferable GPA.
- A bachelor's degree must include 120 completed credit hours. A student may apply a maximum of 64 credit hours of community college coursework to a KU degree. Students with more than 64 credit hours of community college coursework cannot apply the additional hours toward the 120 hour requirement.
- Transfer courses may be matched to a course of opposite level at KU, but the level of credit is defined by the originating institution. (All community college courses are lower level.)
- View the most up-to-date listings of transferable courses at: http://credittransfer.ku.edu. You can search by specific KU Core goal or view many of the courses that transfer to KU. If a class is not listed contact transfercredit@ku.edu to inquire about transferability.

It is the STUDENT'S RESPONSIBILITY to check for updates to all transfer information. This transfer program is provided as a service and is updated annually. Degree requirements are subject to change.
